

ZERO GROUND

*****

March 11, 2005

“At Rockwell Automation's request, ZERO GROUND started working with Rockwell Automation in 2003. In the 4th Quarter 2004, ZERO GROUND met with Rockwell Automation (Dr. Gary L. Skibinski – Sr. Principal Engineer, Jon W. Simons – Vice President Technology and Brian J. Taylor – Business Manager, Drive Products) to explain HOW and WHY the ZERO GROUND System Solution works. ZERO GROUND and Rockwell Automation discussed installing the ZERO GROUND System Solution in their Mequon, WI lab for testing with Rockwell Automation AC drives. However, Rockwell Automation has (now) confirmed it cannot justify the time and cost to test ZERO GROUND with their products. Upon informing ZERO GROUND of this change in direction, Rockwell Automation confirmed that based on the information provided there is no theoretical reason why ZERO GROUND System Solution will not work (in providing the patented claims and benefits promised).”
